

Lacy's 2199 Scoring Total Will Be Difficult To Beat

by Bob Bourbon

Beating Jim Lacy's lifetime scoring record of 2199 points is going to be mighty tough. This total has placed Jim at the very top of the list of all scorers in Intercollegiate basketball history.

It's going to be mighty tough also to add to what has already been said of Jim's exploits and accomplishments during his four-year tenure at Loyola.

James J. Lacy

In the consolation finals of the recent Denver tournament, the tall forward bowed out of his collegiate court career in a blaze of glory, scoring 21 points in his team's second-half comeback triumph over St. Benedict's College, of Atchinson, Kansas.

He finished in much the same way as he had begun.

Helped Beat Bridgewater

It was on a frosty night early in December of 1943 that Evergreen fans first became acquainted with Jim as a Loyola Greyhound. In that evening's game, he opened his college cage career with a 23-point effort against Bridgewater. Going on from there, he scored 413 points before the final whistle of the '43-'44 campaign had been tooted.

Junior Dies In Accident

Richard I. Farace, a Loyola College student of the class of 1950, lost his life last Sunday evening in a tragic automobile accident on Falls Road, near Lake Avenue in Mount Washington. Also in the vehicle at the time and listed among the injured, Frank Love of the class of '50 suffered a fractured jaw and severe shock.

Farace matriculated at Loyola in the Fall of 1946 and soon distinguished himself in many fields of activity. In addition to being a star athlete on Greyhound teams and a fine prospect for professional baseball, he was active in the Sodality and Block "L" Club.

The athlete was a graduate of Loyola High School and served in the Navy previous to his entrance into Loyola. While at Loyola High, he was named to All-Maryland teams in baseball and ice-hockey. His brother, Joseph, is in attendance at the College.

Spring Term

Registration for the 1949 Spring Term will be held from May 23 to May 27. The cut system will differ during the term from the usual procedure for absences. All persons having cuts or unexcused absences above one-half of the number of credit hours a week in a subject will be considered as a failure in that subject. No credit will be given for that course.

Play Analysis:

"Thy Kingdom Come" Portrays Inner Tragedies Of Passion

To dispel the doubts of those individuals who dislike sitting through two hours of a Passion Play which, because of limited budgets and restricted materials, cannot compare with the famed Black Hills drama, here is what is in store for the spectator of Thy Kingdom Come.

While it concerns the age old outline of Our Lord's Passion and Death, this version is a poetic treatment of the three inner tragedies that underlie the story of Christ's death. Pontius Pilate, portrayed by Lawrence Davis, is the principal person behind the story. It is Pilate, hard, clever and sincere in his obedience to military discipline and government management, who suffers the greatest setback—forced by his own pride and doubt into the actual ordering of the death sentence.

Peter, capably handled by Emerson Clarke, successfully interprets the three primary periods: proud, then denying, and final repentance. His soliloquy opening with:

"Many, many times I heard them say to me,
'He is one of them. He follows Him.'
And like an echo from an empty hill,
My hollow heart sent back the answer—"No."

reflects humanity's inner conflict over its past sins. Clarke has cap-

Evening School Will Conduct Graduate Work

(See Page 8, Col. 3)

Loyola College will offer courses leading to the degree of Master of Arts in Education, the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola College, recently announced. The new graduate studies will be initiated with the regular six-week summer term, with day classes beginning June 27 and continuing through August 6.

The degree will be awarded by the College itself, but the courses will be conducted by the Loyola College Evening School, of which the Rev. John E. Wise, S. J., is Dean.

The three fields of study leading to the Master's degree in Education are: the history and philosophy of education; administration, supervision and methods; educational psychology and guidance.

An applicant for admission to the graduate department of Education must possess a Bachelor's degree from a recognized institution. He must file a formal application supported by transcripts, recommendations and other documents which may be required. After meeting certain requirements, the unclassified graduate student will be admitted to the candidacy for a Master's degree.

July '49 To Hold Ball At Emerson

The class of July '49 has procured the Grand Ballroom of the Emerson Hotel for its annual Graduation Dance which will be held in the latter part of July.

Sam Phelps, Chairman of the Ballroom Committee, also announced that by means of ballot his class voted to dispense with the use of a "name band" and that the choice for corsages was unanimous. No decision has yet been reached regarding favors.

Phelps expressed the belief that the choice of the ballroom would be well received because the Ballroom is air-conditioned and was recently redecorated.

Attended Special Committees

The following morning, the Loyolans went to the first plenary session, at which prepared speeches were delivered by the "delegates" from Holland, Poland, and China.

The I. R. C. members then participated in committee meetings. Clarke attended the Ad Hoc Committee on Regionalism; Dietz, the Social, Humanitarian and Cultural Committee; Klein, the Economic and Financial Committee; and Stehle, the Political and Security Committee.

Groups from approximately forty-five other schools in the Middle Atlantic area came to the meeting.

Meals in the Rutgers cafeteria and rooms in dormitories on the campus were provided for the delegates.

First Woman Jury Foreman Attends Evening School

Mrs. Margaret M. Dudley, the first woman ever selected as foreman of the Grand Jury of Baltimore, is a history student at Loyola College Evening School. She was the second woman ever invited as a guest speaker before the Grand Jurors Association.

During her term of appointment from September 1948 to January 1949, Mrs. Dudley had two distinct duties as foreman. Daily indictments were returned for such crimes as larceny and murder, and for each indictment twelve of the twenty-three Grand Jurors had to concur.

As foreman Mrs. Dudley was in charge of five committees composing forty members whose duties were to investigate the corrective measures applied in the state's mental institutions and its training schools for delinquents. While Mrs. Dudley was foreman, the committee made twenty visits to these institutions.

Editor Resumes Life Story, Gives Crying Towel To NDM

by Frank Gallagher

My Finest Hour

(In this issue, we continue the story of my life as was told to Bob Considine by George Bernard Shaw. Copyright Think Magazine.)

From Rags To Shreds

I'll never forget the day the market crash wiped out the family fortune. It was suggested that someone work for a living. Using our influence at the City Hall, we saw to it that grandmother got a job purifying water for Alcoholics Anonymous.

Fearing that the neighbors might see her leaving for work in her dungarees every morning, we purchased a Rolls Royce with a tremendous trunk wherein we smuggled her to and from her place of business. Unfortunately, we forgot to let her out one night. She suffocated.

On my tenth birthday, I spoke my first complete sentence—"I am." The family was even more delighted two years later when I not only displayed my first tooth but also managed to grow a few strands of hair.

It was not long after that my family determined to get rid of me through marriage. They were peeved because I cut up the cat into little pieces and put them in the punch the night my sister came out. "Best punch I ever tasted," said Mrs. Fritz Bonn-Bonne who died during the night.

To make me eligible, I was enrolled at a dance academy. It was here that I met Stella. Although she was thrice my age, I took to her as soon as I read her father's Dunn and Bradstreet report. He was supposed to be an undertaker; but in reality, he was smuggling liquor in from Canada by use of his hearses. It was Stella's job to keep fresh flowers on the coffin top to avoid suspicion. But as fast as she'd put them on, they'd die. I don't think it was very good liquor.

NDM Sing Song Sung

With unadulterated pleasure, we announce that the world's only onion-spun crying towel is presented honoris causa to the staff members of the Notre Dame of Maryland Columns. The girls were sorely peeved because we claimed a moral victory over their badminton team. Truly, a rank injustice was done them; and they were quick to point it out in their newspaper.

Their spontaneous comeback, studded with the choicest sarcasm ever assembled in one column, can be compared favorably with the reaction gained by dropping a pound of yeast in a keg of flat beer. We know when to bow to superior adversaries. Therefore we offer to talk peace with their delegates next Thursday at the Arab reservation in the Gobi Desert. As a bond of our sincerity, we will deliver free of charge the head of Stu Galloway, local promoter, on a silver platter. Can we get the platter back?

Courses In Abstract Artistry Given, Unknown To Student

by George Herman

Local, jealous colleges have made claims that Loyola students haven't any culture, and I would like to refute this unjust claim by pointing out the thorough courses in abstract art offered by our local faculty, unknown to the student.

For example, consider the illustration below which was drawn by Father Walsh in Philosophy and labeled by a confused student as "Impressionistic." The outer circle stands for "All men are mortal." The inner circle represents "John is a man." The conclusion is threefold. (A) All men are like John. (B) John is all man. or (C) Small circles fit comfortably inside larger circles.

The Naturalistic School is promulgated by Father Monaghan in his Religion classes, where the accompanying illustration is drawn on the blackboard to represent "A Happy Solution To An Unhappy Marriage." In it, the triangle is God, the black ball is wife, the white ball is man; and the arrows from the wife are her duties to God and her husband. The arrow from the white ball is the husband locking his wife in on Sundays. The wavy line shows a dissolving of her duties to the husband, and the dotted line is a new spiritual air lift. The conclusion is obvious: Sometimes you have to get tough with an aggressive protagonist. (Russian papers please copy.)

The Romantic School is championed by Dr. Fenlon in his Psychology classes. The circle is the mind of man. The X is the intellect. The wavy line is phenomena; and the conclusions are:

(A) Sometimes nothing seems to matter at all; (B) You can see a lot more if you open your eyes; and (C) As far as we know Descartes is still in Holland.

The final art category is the Realistic. Mr. Higginbotham is the leader of this cult in his Math courses, and in his pictures, the circle always represents a circle, the two lines are radii (female radium), the outer line is a tangent. The conclusions are thus: (A) If anyone ever asks you if you can find the slope of a tangent, say "Yes." and (B) It's smart to travel in the right circles, know all the angles, and still be able to draw the line.

Who sez we ain't got no culture?

Queens Court Contest Opens

Announcement has been made by Ferd Leimkuhler, Prefect of the Junior Sodality, that nominations are now open for the positions of Aides in the Queens Court. Pictures of your date may be submitted between now and April 29 for the honor of serving in the court of Mary, the Queen of the Ball.

The pictures should be turned in to Mr. John J. Burns, S. J., in Room 106S between now and the end of the contest. As an aid to fair play, the contest will be judged at Georgetown and the results sent back here. Contestants are reminded that although snapshots are acceptable, more consideration will be given to portraits.

Member From Each Section

A new idea has been initiated in the judging in order to make the four members of the court as representative of all the students as possible. One member of the court will be taken from the dates of each of the four sections of the school, AB, PhB, BSI, and BSII.

The Queens Ball will be held in the Gym at the college. There will be two orchestras in order that music may be provided all evening. The dance will be held on May 6, from 9 till 2, cabaret style. Though the dress is semi-formal, there will be no corsages allowed.

Committee Chairmen

The dance committee includes: Jacque Gunning, program; Thomas Oaster, arrangements; Robert Bourbon, promotion; and Joseph Serio, program.

Tickets for the affair, priced at three dollars per couple, will go on sale in the near future.

Interesting People and Dogs To Be Found On Campus

by Robert S. Custer

Among the many good things to be found at Loyola are the interesting people and beings that one meets on the campus and in the cafeteria.

Lately, it seems, we have had an influx of dogs. Whether the said animals are local products who have just discovered the Evergreen campus, or whether they commute from more outlying districts, or whether dognappers are leaving their unclaimed hostages here is not clear, but nevertheless, dogs we have plenty of. Fuzzy dogs, hairless dogs, big dogs, little dogs, all kinds of dogs—we got 'em.

New Diabolical Device

When you are seated in the cafeteria, munching an egg salad sandwich and discoursing on the latest scoop from Terry and the Pirates, and you feel a soft brushing on your feet and legs, it won't be the guy across from you cleaning his shoes or the janitor searching for a salt-shaker, but—Fido or Rover. Or when you have fifteen seconds to make that last bell for a class down in the dell and you're setting a new record for the one-hundred-yard dash, that thing that caused you to make like a plow forming furrows in the mud with your chin was not a new diabolical device from the cut office, but, more than likely, said Fido or Rover.

Fragrance From Fido

Also, it has been noted that the biology and chemistry boys have been proudly strutting around campus. It seems that all of the fragrance issuing from the science building didn't come from labs, but that some of it came from Fido (or Rover as the case may be) who was let in, by a playful stude, into the Greyhound office.

It's a shame that Mickey Parr, our sports editor, has to spend all his time reporting sports. Think of how much fun a Pippen could have!!

Alumni Ask Attendance Of Seniors

The presidents of the three senior classes have been contacted by Jules O. Knight, '36, Chairman of the Alumni Banquet Committee. The officers have been asked to contact all their men and to insure a large attendance of the seniors at the Banquet.

Louis Budenz, who has figured prominently in spy testimony both in New York and Washington, will be the guest speaker for the annual affair to be held on April 21st at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

Urges Presence

Knight urged the class officers to see to it that their men take advantage of the reduced price for seniors. The regular charge for a plate is $5.00. However, because the Association is anxious to have as many seniors as possible present, the price has been reduced to cost, $3.50.

The Alumni group is anxious that the graduates take an active interest in their association so that they may aid in the plan to revitalize that organization. Tickets for the seniors may be purchased at the Evening School office.

Breakfast

May 1 has been chosen as the date of the annual Communion Breakfast of the Alumni Association. Bernard Russell, '43, is chairman of the breakfast. Details will be announced in the next issue of THE GREYHOUND.

Exams

According to a recent announcement from the Office of the Dean, final exams will be held on May 19, 20, 23, 24, 25 or May 20, 21, 23, 24, 25 with a term holiday beginning after exams on May 25.

This change was made after a suggestion by the Student Council that since May 26 was the Feast of the Ascension, a holiday on May 27 would give the students the week-end extending through Memorial Day on Monday to May 31.

The name of the Retreat Master will be posted on the bulletin board next week. Also the schedule for those making the retreat will be published.

tured the strength necessary for the Fisherman, and the pitiful indecision of a fallen man.

Woven into the plot is the denial of Judas, an excellent interpretation by Cy Keller in a Shylockish manner; plus the bitter cynicism of Caiphas, played by Robert Custer with a touch of superior quality. Thomas, whose counterpart in modern scientific scepticism is highlighted towards the end of the drama, is portrayed by Frank Gallagher with delicate restraint.

Among the other commendable performances is the above-average work of Gerry Kimmitt as James, Joseph Sills as Martin and James Dietz as the Narrator-Priest.

Injected into the play to point out the parallelism of modern injustice and the trials of Christ are the scenes in the Peoples' Court of Hungary and a modern club cellar scene.

LIFE Muffs It

Life magazine, employing its usual deceptive processes, presented two weeks ago what it termed a composite view of the average American college student. The article was a revealing expose of the distorted values, false beliefs and hollow thinking of the self-styled intelligentsia attending our American secular colleges.

It was not a true picture, however. Not one single Catholic College was visited for an interview with its students. It was true that the Life correspondent visited the north, east, south and west. It was composite, therefore, only inasmuch as geography was concerned. Because of this deficiency, it was misleading. We cannot help but believe that it was no mere oversight on the part of the editors.

We believe that it is the duty of a magazine such as Life to inform the American people that there are still some students in college who have not prostituted themselves for the pleasures of promiscuity, that there are some students who have not made wealth and power the goals of their existence, and that there are some who believe in the basic tenets of our Constitution and in the goodness of our American system. We believe that Life has disheartened its readers by the false impression this article has created. To believe that our nation is solely in the hands of such intellectually blind and morally depleted students as depicted by Life is to believe that the future is full of failure. However, this is not the fact.

There are some college students who have not been misled by their own self-importance. In our Catholic colleges especially, students are convinced that there is some eternal standard of values, that existence is not solely a material thing, that others merit our consideration, and that right involves a duty as well as a benefit.

We regret that Life has muffed its chance.

Maryland Politicians

Forty-two members of the Maryland Legislature last week exhibited a brand of short-sighted thinking seldom equalled by any legislative body in the United States. After having passed the Ober Bill to suppress subversive groups, they voted in the negative to eliminate the odious Jim Crow restrictions from our statute books.

The stupidity involved in their actions is obvious. After taking measures to limit objectionable political groups, the Maryland legislators provided apt material to justify the existence of anti-American organizations. Men do not form such groups because they are happy and everyone is receiving a square deal. There is usually some basis for such movements and in the majority of cases, the foundation can be found in the refusal to grant a minority its rights.

It is not news that the Negro race, a minority, has not been dealt justice. Does the Maryland Legislature correct the abuse? It does not. It thinks it has acted wisely when it moves to eliminate groups aiming eventually to overthrow the government and procure those denied rights. Yet, the Maryland Legislature is supposed to be constituted of intelligent men.

This type of idiotic political suicide will lead to the destruction of the nation. The minority must be respected and protected or it will seize the opportunity to revolt when the gravity of the abuse warrants it.

The men who voted against the repeal and those who were conveniently absent when the vote was taken are guilty of a double crime. They have given subversive organizations a raison d'être. Furthermore they have failed to fulfill their obligation toward their fellow men.

Let us hope that the people of Maryland rid themselves of these political millstones before they drag us into the depths of the sea.

We Mourn A Loss

Like so many tragedies, the death of Dick Farace struck suddenly, leaving his fellow-students sick at heart. The day before the fatal accident, Dick played ball in the varsity opener against La Salle. He was a powerful boy and his appearance suggested health and vigor. A little more than 24 hours later, his strong frame was crushed in an automobile accident. He died almost instantly.

Dick was like the rest of the Loyola college men. He had many friends and was popular not only among fellow students, but also with those who had known him in the service and at Loyola High School. For them, it seems hard to believe that life must be lived without his companionship, hard to believe that they will go through life deprived of his friendship. Because he was so much like the rest of us, his death carried with it a deep significance. Dick was a good boy and we know that God takes care of those who try to do their best.

Our sympathy is with his family at this hour of trial. The prayers of the faculty and students are theirs in the hope that they will have the strength to bear the loss. We join with them in mourning of the loss of our fellow-student, Dick Farace.

You Can Change The World
by James Keller, M. M.

Have you ever thought what you as an individual can do to make the world a better place to live in? Keeping this in mind Father James Keller of Maryknoll formed the Christophers four years ago, stating that the only results he hoped to achieve would be to have little people do big things. You Can Change The World is the story of the Christophers or Christ-bearers. In this book Father Keller outlines a plan of action for each individual whose fulfillment would cause more revolution than anything Marx ever dreamed of. The Christopher works quietly, even silently, asking no favors, seeking no privileges, ready for neglect, misunderstanding and suffering. The plan is simple but in its simplicity lies its strength.

Each individual as a member of the Mystical Body of Christ has a job to do which is done either positively or negatively. "Those who are not with me are against me." This book tells what can be done by the individual here and now. It deals in practical accomplishments. A refreshing reassurance in human nature, rooted in the spiritual, offers hope for the future.

College Song

Twenty years ago, THE GREYHOUND published the words to a new school song written by Mark Shriver, '02, which apparently died out from lack of attention. Currently there is a new fighting song and a college hymn, both written by George Herman, which are waiting the approval of the Administration and the student body.

Bill Lawrence Signs Contract With Victor

by Dick Coleman

All kinds of box office receipts were accounted for during the time of Mel Torme's stay at the Hippodrome Theatre a week or so ago. Mel, prior to his Capitol contract, was recording for Muscraft who had a fairly poor system of distribution and also a very poor promotion department. Even though he is now with Capitol, Mel feels that his greatest break is the tour he is now doing with Woody Herman. Torme's latest recording of "Careless Hands" has put Sammy Kaye's rendition of the same back on the shelves.

Denny Dennis of Tommy Dorsey fame has returned to England to attend to some personal business. It is no doubt all for the good. While he's there he ought to take a few more singing lessons. Not that the young man cannot sing. He can and I for one like his style. But, his rendition with the master, Mr. Dorsey, of "So In Love" is flat in more than one spot and in my estimation, it's inexcusable.

Our sincere congratulations go out to Bill Lawrence who just signed a Victor Recording Contract. His first recording released recently is nothing short of great. The two tunes Bill sings are "Dreamer With a Penny" and "I'm Beginning to Miss You." Both tunes are good and Bill really shows his gift ability of being able to croon smooth stuff that the public really wants. Bill is also one of the stars of the Godfrey shows. There are rumors that Bill Lawrence will be the next crooner on Lucky Strike's "Hit Parade" but whether or not this is true, no one knows yet. Give a listen to Bill's latest discs—the guy is really coming along fine. Who knows—Como and Crosby can't last forever and ever.

Pacing The Pack

Seasonal Change Brings Shift In Headline Names

by MICKEY PARR, Sports Editor

'All things come to him who waits.' So states an old proverb that refers to patience rather than inaction. Most of us felt a bit sorry for fellows like John Bailey, Jack Simanski, and Ed Hughes, who had special seats on the Loyola bench during the basketball season. It's pretty tough to be a uniformed spectator in any sport.

With the advent of spring, however, this trio find the change in scenery very pleasant. Bailey and Simanski are important members of the Greyhound golf squad, and Hughes heads the lacrosse team's midfielders. Ed served as scoring pace-setter of the team last year.

Gene Nolan, who washed basketballs, hung up sweaty uniforms, and performed numerous other duties as one of the court team's managers, is counted on to carry a heavy playing burden during the tennis team's 24-match schedule. Eddie Miller can now forget about that froth boiling up in his face, each time he trailed Clint Bamberger to the wire during the swimming campaigns, and concentrate on his role as a stellar attackman in the Green and Grey lacrosse setup.

Tennis Takes A Step Forward

Not satisfied with the time-consuming efforts needed to guide his tennis charges through an unusually heavy net card, Coach Vince Colimore has accepted the job of Chairman in organizing the new Maryland Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament.

Frank Roberts, local sportsman who will donate the trophies for the event, sought Colimore's assistance, and questionnaires have been sent out by the Loyola mentor to colleges within the Free State boundary. Awards will be made to the individual winner in singles and to the tournament team winner.

The affair will have more-than-ordinary significance in that it is officially sanctioned by the United States Lawn Tennis Association and the Middle Atlantic Tennis Association. A local setting is desired for the event, which will take on a permanent status if the current venture is successful.

Although no date has been agreed upon, tentative plans figure play will be sometime in May. Main obstacle to this problem will be arranging a time that conforms with the present schedules of participating teams.

Celebrations may come and go, but it will be a long time before those who were present will forget the welcoming parade and party held for the basketball team on its return from Denver. The men who master-minded the festivities for that day came through with an excellent job that had quality written all over it.

Alumnus Sticks By Alma Mater

While handing out bouquets it might be well to mention an act of humble loyalty to Loyola, made during the recent Catholic basketball tournament at Denver. Jack McKenna, a former student manager of the Greyhound court team, now serving in the Army, is stationed near the 'mile-high' city.

Not content to merely watch his Alma Mater in action, Jack rolled up his sleeves and went right to work helping Gene Nolan with his managerial labors for three nights. That guy deserves a vote of thanks that will carry twice the distance from here to Denver!

It was over a year ago that someone appropriately labeled Mike Zedalis with the tag, "Zig-Zag Zedalis." But since then he has done more than dazzle Greyhound cage fans with fancy footwork. Mike's driving, aggressive style of play is breath-taking, to say the least.

Perhaps the most amazing part of his repertoire is the way this 6'1" court star mixes with the big boys around the backboards and consistently emerges with the ball in his vise-like grip, steadfastly defying threats to his possession. Can you blame the Denver tournament officials for selecting Zedalis on the all-star squad? Incidentally Jim Lacy and Bob Anderson were accorded a like honor.

Chesterfield Name Contest Begins Today

Through the cooperation of Bob Dorsey, student representative of the Chesterfield Cigarette Company, a 'name-the-swimmers' contest will begin today in the Campus Shop. Each time you purchase a pack of Chesterfields, you will be given a letter of the alphabet. When the letters combine to form one of the selected names of Loyola's championship swimming squad, the purchaser is awarded one carton of Chesterfields.

Netmen Top Explorers

Loyola's tennis team opened the 1949 campaign in fine fashion by shutting out La Salle 9-0 on the Evergreen court last Saturday afternoon. Captain Jerry Laroque led the Greyhounds to victory, beating the Explorers number one player, Chick Webb, 6-1, 6-0, and later teaming with Jim Lacy in the doubles to defeat Webb and Jack McGuire of the visitors 6-2, 6-1.

Lacy left no doubt that he is aiming to continue his unbeaten path in college tennis, by downing McGuire 6-0, 6-1.

Nolan Notches Win

Gene Nolan, number three man for the Green and Grey, had no trouble in his match. The lanky red-head won over Joe Foster 6-1, 6-0.

Up-and-coming John Darrell, the freshman who won the Intramural

The other singles matches saw veterans Ed Ward and George Krug of the host team winning over Ed Murakowski and Frank Kolenka 6-1, 6-1 and 6-1, 6-2, respectively.

Greyhounds Take Doubles

Loyola continued to lead the way in the doubles, the Lacy and Laroque combination displaying superior play at the nets in their match.

Nolan and Darrell, playing together for the first time, worked well as a unit to down Murakowski and Bill McHale of the visiting team by a margin of 6-3, 6-2.

Hank Linz and Andy O'Donnell polished off the match with a victory over Joe Smith and Foster in the final test. The close battle was won by scores of 6-4, 7-5.

Golfers Break Even In Rain

The golfing season was opened officially on March 31, when the Loyola divot-diggers matched drives with Cornell and Johns Hopkins at the Mount Pleasant links. It was the initial engagement for the Greyhounds under Coach Irvin Schloss.

It was anything but pleasant out at the municipal course as a cold, windy rainstorm swept out of the north to make difficult going for the par-busters.

Ithacans Win Two

The visiting Ithacans walked off at the end of the afternoon's proceedings with a double win over the Baltimore sextets. They triumphed over the Hopkins team 4-2, but Loyola, defending Mason-Dixon

Greyhounds Place Third In Catholic Tournament

In a playoff for third place in the National Catholic Invitational Basketball tournament, Loyola conquered St. Benedict's of Atchison, Kansas, 71 to 70, with a thrilling second-half rally at the Municipal Auditorium in Denver, on March 26.

The Greyhounds came back from a 42 to 29 deficit at halftime and nipped the Kansas quintet with a little more than twenty-five seconds remaining in the game.

Lacy Gets Final Point

It was "Gentleman Jim" Lacy who counted the deciding point with a charity toss, his last point as a collegiate performer.

Lacy garnered a total of twenty-one tallies for the evening's output which hiked his four-year total to the staggering sum of 2,199 points, a formidable scoring standard for college hoopsters to shoot at in the future.

Anderson Tallies 23

Big Bob Anderson turned in a sparkling game and carried much of the scoring load in that torrid second-half rally which yielded 42 points for Loyola. Bob dropped in the tying points which set up Lacy's winning toss.

The remainder of the scoring was distributed among Mike Zedalis, Herb Meinert, Andy O'Donnell, Vince Gallagher, and Bill Johnson. Regis College, victors over the Greyhounds on the previous evening, captured the first annual National Catholic tourney with a win over St. Francis of Brooklyn.

Gonzaga Beaten

The most thrilling game of the week's play was the second-round engagement between Loyola and Gonzaga, won by the Loyolans, 53 to 51. At halftime the Greyhounds held a 34 to 32 advantage.

The Bulldogs from the West Coast made a second-half spurt that kept them on top up to the final minutes. Then, with less than a minute showing on the big clock at the end of the auditorium, Vince Gallagher connected from the side with a one-hander, to knot the count at 48-48.

Captain Jack Curran of Gonzaga, layed up two for the 'Zags, sending the Crosby alma mater into the lead. Then the big gun from Loyola opened up for the Mason-Dixon Champs. Jim Lacy hooked in a shot from the sidecourt, and was fouled in the act of shooting. He hit his free throw and the game ended with the Greyhounds on the long end of the 53 to 51 count.

Regis Triumphs

Loyola's hopes for another post-season basketball championship were shattered in the semi-final round of Catholic tournament play by the high-scoring Regis College quintet, host team in the six-day event.

The Reitzmen bowed to the eventual champions, 67 to 60, in a game which featured Loyola's Jim Lacy against Regis' Dick Heffley, a 6' 7" center. This hard-driving Westerner hooked in 27 points and it was his all-around play that spelled defeat for the Baltimoreans.

Loyola failed to find a defense to halt the young giant, and even though Jimmy Lacy poured in 20 counters to wipe away the old collegiate scoring mark, the Evergreen basketweavers were unable to pull the ball game out of the fire. Mike Zedalis chipped in with six field goals, five of which came in that second-half rally that fell short when time ran out.

Lacy Sets New Mark

Navy, during which time he played with the Bainbridge Commodores, Lacy returned to Loyola and proceeded to set scorekeepers agog with his scoring rampages. His 667 points for the 1946-47 season was second highest in the nation, and his total had then run well over the 1,000 mark.

543 In '47-'48

In last year's race, Jim racked up 472 points during regular play, and this, coupled with the 71 which he garnered during two post-season tourneys, went to make up an aggregate of 543 markers.

His 1948-49 point-making activities have projected him and Loyola into the national spotlight. He ran up an impressive sum of 576 points, over the past four months, to move 38 markers ahead of the previous record, 2,161, held by Brooms Abramovic, of Salem College.

Seldom Held Down

It is interesting to note that in only 18 of 123 games in which the dark-haired star competed was he held below 10 points.

He was held to 1 point, his lowest single game output, by Johns Hopkins in a contest here during his freshman year; and it was against this same team that he set the present Evergreen scoring mark of 39 points for one game, last February 5.

Gears His Play

No team has been able to consistently shackle him. He gears his performances to the importance of the game; the more difficult the competition, the better he gets.

It is probable, with the majority of Colleges abiding by the rule which prohibits Freshmen from Varsity action, thus giving a man only three years of court activity, that Jim Lacy's record should remain almost unattainable for aspiring basketball players of future years.

Cage Team Is Honored

Lugging a tall, gold trophy, awarded them for their third place finish in the National Catholic Tourney held at Denver, Colorado, Loyola's basketball players arrived home from their western trip on March 29.

Instead of being able to relax after their tiring train ride, the ten players, Athletic Moderator Father Arthur, and Coach Lefty Reitz stepped right into the middle of a jubilant welcoming committee. Mr. James J. Lacy, Sr., and Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro were among those in the crowd.

Band And Students Present

All but raising the roof of Mount Royal Station with their rousing march music and hearty cheering, were a band from the Maryland Training School and a large number of students.

From the station a motorcade, heralding the homecoming of the team with honking horns, moved up Charles Street, led by the players, who rode in sleek open convertibles. In due time the long line of vehicles pulled up in front of the College gym, where the team was further welcomed by the rest of the Loyola students.

At the huge rally each member of the team was singled out for his individual feats, and Father Talbot, President of the College, personally tendered his congratulations to the boys for their successful season and tourney record.

Party Held In Gym

In the evening, a party was held in the Gym for the team. Speakers included Senator Herbert R. O'Connor, Mr. Lacy, Jesse Linthicum, Sports Editor of The Morning Sun, and Coach Reitz.

Vince Bagli served as Master of Ceremonies, and Bill Mullikin served up his usual dish of delectable entertainment. Ed Gilbert also added a comedy skit to the scene. A highlight of the evening was the appearance and singing of Miss Ann Crowley, pretty starlet of the musical show "Oklahoma."

Mainly responsible for the success of this welcome, and the other events of the day were the brains behind the scheme, Bill McElroy, Jim Fusting and Gordon Jakubowski.

Miller Chosen Captain

In an election held by the lacrosse team last week, Bob Miller was chosen captain of the 1949 squad. He succeeds Ray Wittelsberger as the Stickmen's field leader.

Hoyas Beat Greyhounds

The Hoyas of Georgetown University came to Evergreen last Tuesday afternoon and pounded out a 4 to 1 win over the Greyhound nine.

It was a close pitchers' battle between Loyola's Bill Carroll and Georgetown's Doc Dougherty through the first four innings. However, in Georgetown's half of the fifth, Joe Conley opened with a single, and advanced to third on an error. Ray Corley then punched out a double, driving home a run for the visitors. A walk and a double by Hardiman made it 2 to 0.

Loyola bounced back in the seventh as Ed Hagerty, pinch-hitting for Harry Shock, smashed a single to center field, and on fine base-running advanced to second. First baseman Bob Barry then drove Hagerty across, giving the Green and Grey one run.

In the ninth the Hoyas added two more runs on a single by Jim Naples, a double by Tom Harkness, and a triple by Bob Falvey. The Greyhounds threatened in their half. With two out, Linardi socked a long double, only to die on second.

Conference champions, waged a close battle before succumbing 3½-2½.

Upset of the afternoon was registered by lightly regarded Warren Hassler of Hopkins. This slightly-built golfer turned back Jack Cronin, current Conference champ, 3 and 2.

Cronin Scores

Cronin scored over his New York opponent, however, and along with Jack Simanski and Jim Pelisek, accounted for the Green and Grey points in this half of the triangular affair.

Loyola's triumph over Hopkins came by virtue of victories turned in by John Bailey, Simanski, Mel Beeler, and Pelisek.

Low medal score for the day was turned in by Hassler with an 80.

Loyola Nine Bows To LaSalle In Season's Home Debut

by Harry Shock

Loyola opened the 1949 baseball season by swallowing a 4 to 1 defeat at the hands of La Salle College in a game played at Evergreen on April 2. The Greyhound hitters were served up a de-vitaminized diet of four base hits by two visiting righthanders, Dick Adair and Joe Byrne.

The Explorers collected seven safe blows off the combined efforts of Charlie Sybert and Dan Donahue. They jumped out to a one run lead on three hits in the top half of the third inning, and added three more tallies in the sixth before Loyola could break into the run column.

La Salle Takes Early Lead

A hit batsman, followed by two safeties, gave La Salle one run in the third. To start off the sixth inning, Dougherty singled to left. The next batter was safe on an error and both runners were sacrificed to set up the runs.

Joe Schenberger drove in both runners with a hit to left-center. He then stole second, took third on an error and scored on a fly to deep center. The visitors then led 4 to 0.

Walt Sibiski singled to left in the Greyhound seventh and went to second as the ball rolled through the left fielder's legs. First baseman Jack Doyle followed with another single to send in Loyola's only score.

Meagher Shows Natural Ability In Many Sports

by Gerry McCormick

When he recently won the 165-pound Mason-Dixon wrestling crown, Franny Meagher justified the great confidence which Loyola wrestling fans have in him. Franny also won the coveted title in 1946, shortly before he left Loyola to join the Paratroopers.

An interesting point about his double triumph is the fact that Franny did not turn to wrestling until he entered Loyola College, in 1945.

A standout football player at Loyola High School, Meagher had to find other outlets for his talents when he came to Evergreen. Wrestling Coach Phil Goodman soon taught him to use his ample strength and ruggedness to the best advantage.

Also Plays Lacrosse

Nor had Franny played lacrosse before entering Loyola, yet in 1946, his first season of play, he nailed down a first-string defense post. This spring will again find the ever-active Meagher on the lacrosse field.

While at Loyola High he was a standout halfback on the grid squad, although he had to play second string to the great Jim Geri. However many people felt that Loyola's second-team backfield that year was one of the best units in the city.

Many Other Activities

Despite his many and varied successes in athletics, Franny is no slouch in the academic field. A physics major, he is the current president of the Physics Club. However, he anticipates a future in law.

Now the energetic and popular Hamilton youth has indicated that he will run for the presidency of the Athletic Association this year.

Alumni Bowling Race Unchanged

The Class of '42 still maintains the pace in the Alumni Bowling Circuit with a mark of 16 victories against two losses, as of April 1. Disney, of this same team, is leading the league with an average of 107.

The Class of '43 is close on the heels of the league leaders, and boasts a 14-4 log. These two teams meet each other next week, and this clash should do much to determine the race.

Disney and Sands shared weekly high game laurels with identical marks of 134. Pilachowski, from the class of '40, turned in the high set of the week, a big 331.

The top ten bowlers are:

Czekaj Has Good Squad

The Varsity nine takes the "A" Bus to Hopkins on April 26. Coach Ed Czekaj is rightfully pleased with the turnout at Homewood. Czekaj, an athlete in his own right, played end on Penn State's undefeated Cotton Bowl Team of 1943.

Among the Hopkins swatters are Wilson Fewster, All-American lacrosse player, who is trying his hand at his father's game. Wilson's father is the former Yankee great, Chick Fewster. Bernie Baake, outfielder, will likely hold on to the number four batting position, while Harry Tighe is looking good on second base.

Colimore Is Successful As Loyola Tennis Coach

Vince Colimore

With the trimming of La Salle College, 9 to 0, in its first meet of the year, the Loyola tennis team embarked on its fourth season in the Mason-Dixon Conference.

Under the able tutelage of Mr. Vincent Colimore the Greyhounds accomplishments in this sport have been little short of phenomenal. Vince, as he is usually called, is well qualified for this job.

Maryland Open Champ

During his younger days he played four years on the Varsity at Loyola High, and was twice winner of the Maryland Open tennis crown.

The personable coach made good use of his free time, during a hitch in the Army, by playing at Fort Bragg, and later, in Germany and Italy. He was discharged in January, 1946, and started his coaching career in the spring of that year.

Teaches Languages

Coaching the tennis team might be listed as just a sideline for Colimore, because he has numerous other duties. He teaches French, Italian, and Public Speaking at Evergreen; and while doing all this he is also completing studies for his Master's Degree in Romantic Languages at Fordham U.

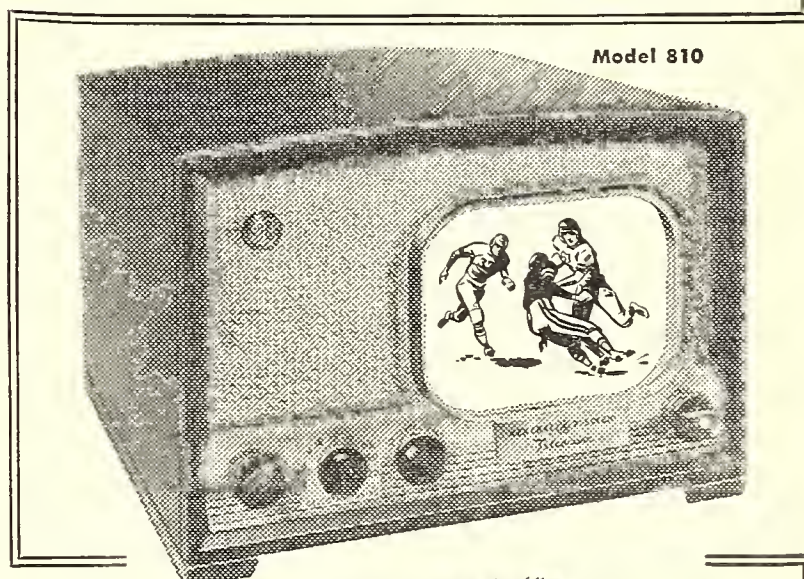

Recently he has been appointed to the committee arranging the inauguration of the Maryland Inter-collegiate Tennis Tournament.

Bridge Team Trounces NDM

At long last! The long suffering, but persevering Loyola Bridge Club has downed the Culbertson experts from Notre Dame. The ladies were soundly trounced on their home grounds by a total team score of 3060 points on March 23.

The victorious Greyhounds were Jim and Howard Bradley, Bob Bordley and Bill Eggleston, Hans Wilhelmson and Ed Paulus, and Bob Custer and Jim Bowen.

It must be admitted that it took the Loyola team a long enough time to finally win, having played the girls a total of four times before finally crashing through to victory.

But, said Custer, "We won. Revenge is sweet. And now all the seniors on the bridge team can breathe a sigh of relief, because they won't have to form an alumni team to win one, they can proudly say, 'When I was a college student at dear old Loyola, my bridge team beat Notre Dame.'"

Glee Club Plans St. Mary's Concert

Enthusiastic Atmosphere Enthralls Sven G. Radhe

by Howard J. France

Mr. Sven G. Radhe

"It was like a new experience, something I had never witnessed before; the atmosphere of the campus blended with the enthusiasm of the students was enthralling." That is how Mr. Sven G. Radhe summed up his first impression of Loyola, Evergreen.

Mr. Radhe came to this country at the age of nine when his parents migrated from Sweden to America. They lived with a Columbia University professor from the time they entered in 1928, until 1934 when they moved to Washington. During these six years with the professor, Mr. Radhe received private tutoring in English and was able to master it so skillfully that by the time he graduated from elementary school he had skipped enough grades to enable him to graduate with his own age group.

While attending Central High School in Washington, he worked at all types of odd jobs after school and earned enough to continue on to college. After three years of study at George Washington University, the thirty year old bachelor was called into the service and sent to Camp Hood, Texas, to Officer's Candidate School. He was commissioned a second lieutenant.

In 1946 he was discharged as a first lieutenant and returned to George Washington to complete his last year of studies. He graduated in June of the following year, receiving his Bachelor of Arts with an economics major and a psychology minor.

He came to Loyola in September of 1948 and is now teaching business finance, business organization, government and industrial management. His future plans include matriculating for his Masters at George Washington.
